Student News

STUDENT BLOGS: THE FIRST OF THEIR KIND IN THE MIDDLE EAST

Two blogs, created by both graduate and undergraduate students in GAPP. Read more.

GAPP ALUMNA RECEIVES THE WHITE HOUSE CORRESPONDENTS’ ASSOCIATION SCHOLARSHIP

Sara Farag Elkamel, MA in journalism, 2013, has been awarded the scholarship to attend Columbia University. Read more.

"THE EGYPTIAN REVOLUTION IN THE EYES OF WOMEN"

GAPP alumna Jehad Rajab's audio documentary has been recognized in international competitions. Read more.

STUDENTS VISIT EGYPTIAN COUNCIL FOR FOREIGN AFFAIRS

March 31, 2015

Undergraduate students in the course PPAD 2099: Introduction to Diplomacy and Security, taught by Sameh Aboul Enein, visited the council on March 31. Read more.

UNDERGRADUATE STUDENTS PARTICIPATED IN UN SIMULATION SESSION

Professor Sameh Aboul Enein led students in a simulated conference on the Middle East as a nuclear-free zone. Read more.

THE STUDENT WHO OVERCAME THE MOST

Magdy Abdel Sayed is a 2015 honors graduate in AUC's Department of Journalism and Mass Communication. Read more.

AUC TV WEBSITE GOES LIVE

The AUC TV website is now live, showcasing JRMC and TVDJ students' weekly shows and unique feature stories. Content is produced as part of coursework for JRMC 3339: Studio Production and TVDJ 5242: Digital Video Editing, among others. Read more.

MULTIMEDIA JOURNALISM STUDENT WINS AT 2015 BEA MEDIA FESTIVAL OF ARTS

Jehad Rajab '14, a multimedia journalism major and participant in JRMC 4460 Audio Production (Fall 2014), received second place in the 2015 Media Festival of Arts Student Audio Awards. Read more.
DEPARTMENT OF JOURNALISM AND MASS COMMUNICATION STUDENT PHOTOGRAPHY PROJECTS

A selection of student photography projects made in Egypt over the Fall 2014 semester, reflecting a wide range of subjects and themes. View pictures

MID-YEAR COMMENCEMENT, FEBRUARY 2015

February 14, 2015

409 students graduated on Saturday, February 14, 2015, in a ceremony that witnessed a live performance by composer and musician Omar Khairat, who also received an honorary doctorate in fine arts. View pictures.

GRADUATE STUDENT CONFERENCE ON ARAB UPRISINGS

CALL FOR PAPERS

JRMC STUDENTS VISIT NILE FM STUDIOS

Students in Kim Fox’s JRMC 4460 Audio Production Class in the Department of Journalism and Mass Communication were hosted by Mark Somers, Sally Sampson and Mickey at Nile FM and given a tour of the facilities. View pictures

SIX JAMEEL ATTEND SUMMER COURSE AT THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY

Six of Jameel fellows traveled to The George Washington University in Washington, D.C. during Summer 2014. Reem Bassem, Reem Ezzat, Shereen Ezzat, Amira el Refaie, Seif Aboubzaid and Noheir Bahgat took a course titled U.S. Foreign Policy in a Global Era as exchange students as part of the Yousef Jameel GAPP Public Leadership Fellowship program. As part of the course, the students did site visits to Armitage International, Stimson (think tank), Pew Research Center, The World Bank, the U.S. Congress and the U.S. Department of State. “Spending a summer semester abroad at the George Washington University is definitely a remarkable opportunity which I am grateful for,” Bassem said.

NAILA HAMDY’S JRMC200 STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN CONFERENCE

June 16 - 17, 2014

The conference was on The Future of Integrated Newsrooms. Speakers featured at this event ranged from journalists with the BBC to editors from El Pais (Spain) and Clarin (Argentina). In addition, Adrian White (Ethical Journalism Network) spoke on principles of ethical journalism. The event took place at the Greek Campus on June 16 and 17, 2014.
ADHAM CENTER STUDENTS SPEND SUMMER IN WASHINGTON, D.C. FOR MEDIA INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

For graduate students at Kamal Adham Center for Television and Digital Journalism, spending the summer in Washington, D.C. marked a series of “firsts.” Ten graduate students from the center were hosted by the London-based Al Ghad Al Arabi television station in their Washington, D.C. bureau for six weeks this summer as part of a media internship program. Using cameras provided by the Kamal Adham center, the students were tasked with producing stories and videos on the city, covering events spanning from crime-ridden neighborhoods to the more affluent government center area, and attending press briefings by the U.S. Department of State. By the end of the six weeks, the students had utilized their knowledge of television production to publish more than 20 stories. Read more

JRMC STUDENTS GOING INTERNATIONAL

Dina Salah Eldin, JRMC MMJ 2012, was a 2014 summer intern at the National Council on U.S.-Arab Relations in Washington, D.C. She spent her time working for the Washington Review on Middle East Affairs. As a part of the program, she won a fellowship excellence award and has been invited to speak at the U.S.-Arab Relations Policymakers conference on October 28, 2014 in Washington, DC. Dina now has a paid intern at the Arab American Institute in Washington, D.C. from September until December 2014.

Nada Badawi, JRMC MMJ 2012, was accepted into Columbia University, New York University and Northwestern University’s master’s journalism programs for fall 2014. Nada decided to enroll in Columbia’s Graduate School of Journalism.

STUDENT AWARDS

Nazly Abaza's (JRMC MMJ 2014) audio documentary "28 and Single," which was produced as a part of JRMC 4460 Audio Production, taught by Kim Fox in Fall 2013, has been the recipient of numerous awards. Read more

Nancy Salem's (JRMC MMJ 2014) audio documentary "Intricate Design: The Life and Times of an Egyptian Fashion Designer," produced as a part of JRMC 4460 Audio Production, taught by Kim Fox in Fall 2013, has also been the recipient of awards and recognition. Read more

JOURNALISM AND MASS COMMUNICATION FACULTY AND STUDENTS AT NEW ARAB DEBATES

Students enrolled in two courses, Current Issues in Mass Communication and Communication and Media Arts Capstone, attended the New Arab Debates program hosted by Tim Sebastian on March 31. The students were accompanied by Naila Hamdy, assistant professor of journalism and mass communication. Read more
SCHOOL OF GLOBAL AFFAIRS AND PUBLIC POLICY ORGANIZES STUDY TOUR IN TURKEY

January 26, 2012

January 26, 2012, Cairo, Egypt - During the winter break, the School of Global Affairs and Public Policy in partnership with the Turkish ambassador in Egypt, organized a study tour to Turkey for a select group of public policy and administration graduate students. Read more

STUDENT STUDY TOUR TO SINGAPORE

GAPP, in cooperation with the Embassy of Singapore, organized the third study tour for its public policy and administration department students to Singapore. The study tours are a student development opportunity provided by the dean's office. The tour took place in June 2013 and included visits to ministries, think tanks, NGOs, governmental organizations and universities. Only 12 students were selected to participate in the tour based on the following criteria: completed a minimum of five courses in a GAPP master's program by end of spring semester 2013; highest grade point average among interested students; and tour's relevance to the student's studies.

The study tour was be led by Laila El Baradei, professor of public administration and associate dean of GAPP and Assmaa Ahmed, GAPP external affairs manager. Students selected to go on the trip were expected to do some preliminary research about the organizations to be visited, to take notes during the visit and to report on their findings after they return. A workshop will be organized by the beginning of the fall semester to share findings and reflect on the study tour with PPAD faculty and colleagues; and the school's organizing partner, i.e. the Embassy of Singapore.

SINGAPORE AGREEMENT

February 8, 2010 - January 11, 2010

School of Global Affairs and Public Policy at AUC is to sign an exchange program agreement with Lee Kuan Yew School of Public Policy at The National University of Singapore. Read more.

AUC TEAM WON THREE ROUNDS IN THE 19TH AFRICAN HUMAN RIGHTS MOOT COURT COMPETITION

October 18, 2010

Egypt, October 18, 2010 – A team of two international human rights law MA students at The American University in Cairo, Masa Amir and Tye Tavaras, won three rounds at the 19th African Human Rights Moot Court Competition that was held at the University of Abomey-Calavi in Benin from October 4 to 9 to increase awareness of human rights issues, develop research and argumentation. The team was accompanied by Diana Van Bogaert, director of the legal English Training Unit of the Department of Law at the AUC, which is a part of the School of Global Affairs and Public Policy.